The mighty Mississippi River forms the western boundary of Meeman-Shelby Forest State Park. The developed sections of the park sit atop the Chickasaw Bluffs. These bluffs were formed from wind-blown silt and dust deposited in ancient times. These bluffs and the river bottoms below host one of the finest arrays of plant and animal life in the state.

The park was named in part for the late Edward J. Meeman, a one-time Memphis newspaper editor. An avid conservationist, Meeman was instrumental in establishing this site as well as the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in East Tennessee.

From Interstate 40, take exit 2-A, turn right, go 6 stoplights to Watkins road, turn left and go until the road dead-ends. Turn left, go one mile to a four-way stop and General Store then turn right, go one mile, turn left into park.

Access Fees may apply. Call park for details.
